RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

- Computer Systems Laboratory (CSL), Cornell University USA
  Graduate Research Assistant (Advisor: Prof. Mohamed Abdelfattah) Aug. 2022 - Present
  Efficient FPGA Architectures for Machine Learning: I am currently investigating novel FPGA architectures for accelerating deep neural networks.
- Centre for Integrated Circuits and Systems (CICS), Nanyang Technological University Singapore
  Project Officer (Advisor: Prof. Tony Tae-Hyoung Kim) Feb. 2020 - Aug. 2021
  Computing In-Memory: I conducted projects about computing in-memory (CIM) circuit design based on static random access memory (SRAM) and resistive random access memory (ReRAM). My projects mainly explored how to perform versatile CIM functions on a single memory chip to save area and improve flexibility.
- Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, National University of Singapore Singapore
  Research Engineer (Advisor: Prof. Heng Chun Huat) Sept. 2021 – Jul. 2022
  RF Digital Power Amplifier: I worked on a joint project with NXP Semiconductors to design an RF switched-capacitor power amplifier for high-speed communication. I implemented several key circuit blocks and helped with the chip testing design.
